In ostablish a beachhead in today's biolog cture halls. For almost a decade, moreover, the California State Board of Education bas been a constant battleground on the issues. During the Reagan administration, a more pro-religious board tilted toward accepting the biblical account of a six-day creation as scientifically respectable, but the governor-ship of Edround G. Brown Jr. brought a resurgence of support on the board for the that has taken thousands of years. Even un der Mr. Reagan, the board conceded that "most scientists agree that the theory of organic evolution is the best for the comple forms of life in the past and present Teaching the biblical doctrines of creation as scientific truth violates the First Amend much as in the past.
